RESEARCH

Administrative and Immigration Law

The Unexamined Law of Deportation, 110 GEORGETOWN L. J. __ (forthcoming 2022) (job talk paper) (showing empirically that criminal convictions largely determine who is deported and arguing normatively that such prioritization by criminality is only rarely justifiable).

Reviewing Administrative Review, 38 YALE J. REG. 1059 (2021) (proposing theory of administrative review, testing theory with Social Security Appeals Council data, and finding that review promotes uniformity as a result of litigants' decisions about whether to appeal).

Sanctuary Policies Reduce Deportations Without Increasing Crime, 117 PROC. NAT. ACAD. SCIENCES 27262 (2020) (evaluating effect of sanctuary policies). Coverage in the Washington Post, the Hill, the Chicago Tribune, Philadelphia Magazine, the Volokh Conspiracy, and Cato @ Liberty.

The Failure of Immigration Appeals, 164 U. PENN. L. REV. 1177 (2016) (finding that immigration appeals fail to moderate disparities across immigration judges because harsh immigration judges evade review by preventing noncitizens from finding counsel).

Executive Control of Agency Adjudication: Capacity, Selection, and Precedential Rulemaking, 40 J. L. ECON. & ORG. ___ (forthcoming) (with Daniel E. Ho, Mark Krass, and Anne M. McDonough) (evaluating the Trump administration’s methods of controlling the immigration courts).

Working Papers

Presidential Power over Immigration After Trump (working paper) (showing that President Trump drastically cut admissions to the United States but only slightly increased deportations, introducing a new paradigm of Presidential power over immigration).

The Danger of Rigged Algorithms: Evidence from Immigration Detention Decisions (working paper) (measuring the effect of ICE’s 2017 decision to remove the “release” option from its detention risk assessment algorithm).

Executive Control of Agency Adjudication: Capacity, Selection, and Precedential Rulemaking (revise & resubmit, J. L. ECON. & ORG., with Daniel E. Ho, Mark Krass, and Anne M. McDonough) (evaluating the Trump administration’s methods of controlling the immigration courts).

Identifying Opportunities to Improve the Network of Immigration Legal Services Providers, Immigration Policy Lab Working Paper (with Vasil Yasenov, Michael Hotard, Duncan Lawrence, Alexandra Siegel, Jessica S. Wolff, David D. Laitin, and Jens Hainmueller).
